1989 NORTHEAST CHAMPIONS

by Cheryl Jagger Williams

The Northeast Border Collie Association is proud to present its two Champions for the year 1989. For many years the Association has had a "High Point Champion". This dog gains points from the entire trial season beginning in May with the University of Connecticut Trial and ending in October with the Fryeburg, Maine Trials.

High Points are earned by placing in the top ten in the open trials which are listed at the beginning of the year as qualifying trials. The year 1989 had approximately 32 trials during the season. A dog earns points as follows: 10 points for first place, 9 points for second place, etc. The most consistent placing dogs earn the honors for the top ten High Point Competition and are recognized as such.

The NEBCA High Point Champion for 1989 was Walt Jagger's Dot, a nine year old female. Dot was bred by William Hamilton of Berwicks, Scotland. She was imported by Jack Knox in 1981 as a one year old pup. Robert Mattix of Indiana purchased her and sent her to Bruce Fogt to train. Under Bruce, she won the Virginia Blue Ridge Open in the spring of 1983, which is

1989 FALL FOLIAGE CHAMPIONSHIP

by Beverly Lambert

The 1989 Championship was sponsored by the City of Bangor, Maine and held on the infield of the Bass Park Racetrack in Bangor. The course and the sheep proved to be very demanding, trying the abilities of the dogs and the patience of the handlers. The weather was cool and sunny but very windy. The sheep were a combination of Dorsets and Scottish Blackfaces. Each dog got a combination of both types. The Dorsets were hard to move. needing to be pushed around the course. The Scotties were unpredictable. Some of the Scotties moved fairly easily, others bolted and a few were just plain crazy. There were enough outstanding runs to show it could be done and enough disasters to prove it wasn't easy.

The awards banquet was hosted by the City and held in the Bangor Civic Center. Dinner was followed by music from Alex McKinven and dancing. The good time made up for some of the frustration on the trial field.

The trial was judged by Doug Lamb from Scotland as-

BOOT - PART 3

by Beverly Lambert

Note: This is part three of the series on the progress of a young Border Collie named Boot. We are almost caught up with her training, even though she is now actually 9 months old. ed's.

Boot is now 6 months old. She weighs about 25 pounds and can now run faster than the sheep. She is very keen to work. We are now working the sheep for about five or ten minutes every morning. I continue to encourage her to go around the sheep and hold them together and up to me.

Now that Boot has had a little experience at this, she can run further to get to the sheep for this gather. This is the beginning of her outrun. Boot has already shown that she has a very natural sort of outrun. When she leaves me to go to the sheep she almost always runs wider as she gets closer to the sheep. It is very important when working with this sort of dog never to ask them to go any wider then they do naturally. Dogs have a tendency to go wider as they get older anyway, so pushing Boot out any wider now could well result in her working much too far from the sheep as an adult.

EDITORS' NOTES

Well, here is our second effort at putting out the NEBCA NEWS, and it is getting easier. It seems that much of what we had to do to get the first one ready has been reusable for this one. WE STILL NEED YOUR SUPPORT WITH ARTICLES AND INFORMATION. Denise and Kristen warned us that this would be our biggest problem.

This is the official Spring 1990 issue. We have published it much as it would have been published over the last several years. The typeset is similar, and the paper stock equivalent. And, it will cost us accordingly. We would like your opinion on how we should do future issues, now that you have seen both the quality of the supplement and that of this regular issue. We can save substantial costs by printing at the quality level of the supplement, even though our personal time may increase. This issue was produced by a printer who charged us for the quality of the paper stock, the collating, and the stapling -- the latter two Lynne, Gene and Rick accomplished at our kitchen table at 12:00 midnight for the supplement. Let us know your preference.

We have talked to many of you during the last several weeks. Training of our dogs is well in full swing in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, but hampered by snowdrifts and bitter cold in the North Country. How is lambing season going for all of you in the far North? In spite of urban sprawl, there is much to be said for living in the south of the Northeast. Some of our members have started trialing in Florida during this month. Doesn't that sound luxurious. Perhaps, for the next issue, we will start delivering some trial scores for the southern-most trials.

In this issue, we will bring you as up to date as possible on the training of Beverly Lambert's Boot. Keep a close eve on this series of articles for tips on how to progress with the training of your young Border Collie. The editors are particularly interested, since they have Boot's brother, Robin, in training as well. Look for Boot to compete against Gene Sheninger's Robin and Becky Peterson's Roy in the upcoming trial season -- 2 brothers and a sister from the same litter.

Also in this issue, we will close out the trial season of 1989. Pay close attention to the standings in the NEBCA high points competition and the NEBCA Fall Foliage Championship. These are the dogs to beat in the upcoming 1990 season.

Please don't forget, those of you who have been contributing articles, keep sending us the material. Without trial information and articles, this newsletter will not publish. We have committed to put out ten issues a year, but it cannot happen without your help. Deadline information is contained within.

Also, remind your trialing friends that their membership may have run out. We have half as many active members today as we had at the end of last year, and it is surely because people have forgotten to renew.

sisted by Edgar Gould and Alex McKinven. These three critics watched all of the runs from Edgar's car over the two days of the trial and had comments for any handler brave enough to ask.

With 36 dogs qualifying for the trial and 27 actually competing, time proved a big problem. For the final runs the course had to be shortened along with the time. The end was no great surprise as Walt Jagger and Tweed showed themselves the team to beat in the first runs and stayed out in front all weekend to win the Championship. Tweed was the oldest dog in this year's competition. His closest competitor was one of the younger dogs as Beverly Lambert's Jet came in second place.

TRAVELS IN NEW ZEALAND

by Anne Barclay Priest

This is the second in a series by Anne on her escapades down under. We are continuing with her around that wild and wooly countryside, she started almost two years ago, and we reported in our winter issue. Now join us in reliving Anne's adventures.

In New Zealand I stayed at two bed and breakfasts on South Island before visiting my friends on North Island. There is a B&B book which lists accommodations by category as well as location and so I picked sheep farms where they were happy to have people help.

The first one was north of Christchurch in a town called Waian. It was most interesting from the economics point of view. The couple (children grown) had recently moved to this farm from a smaller one. It was 1200 acres and had cost $850,000 New Zealand dollars. That translates to $578,000 U.S. (at the exchange rate at the time of my visit). They had bought it a year or so earlier when the market was up and the interest rate down (relatively) so that at purchase time they were paying 15% interest on their mortgage. Since then land prices had plummeted to the extent that their farm was now worth $500,000 N.Z. ($340,000 U.S.) and their mortgage rate was at 25%. Still, they lived very well. Although we worked hard for 2-1/2 hours in the morning, they were impatient to get on with it, as both of them were competing in a golf tournament in the afternoon. They had about 2000 ewes (a unit in N.Z. that will support a family of 4) and what we did that morning was to vaccinate 1200 of them for toxoplasmosis. I asked the farmer whether he had experienced much abortion from this disease and he said, "Well, no, but you see, my daughter has just graduated from veterinary school and she got all this vaccine free of charge." At concentration. Once the sheep were in the yard, the dogs were even less cooperative (I think they were sick of me by then), but somehow we managed to keep feeding first the daughter and I worked together. squashed a lot of sheep into a sorting chute; she started at the top, shooting each sheep in turn while I kept track of which ones she had done and shoved them forward as she moved back. It was hard work but fun. Then the father, who had been shearing, came to help. He was so fast and so strong that I found myself in the way. There were still hundreds of sheep in an adjoining pasture, so I took their dogs (not Border Collies) and went out there. I opened the gate leading to the yard where the chute was and I gave a "go by." Nothing happened so I tried a "way to me." Still nothing happened. I guess they use different words. I tried hand signals, great big hand signals with lots of body English. Still nothing. I guess they use different hand signals too! I then got the dogs to follow me and together we drove the sheep towards the gate. Occasionally the dogs would find something interesting to smell and totally lose sheep into the chute so that the vaccinations continued without interruption. How I longed for my dear Tess! God knows what breed their dogs were, but I know now for sure there's nothing like a Border Collie for that kind of work.

A working chute with a two-way gate is definitely next on my list of things to build for myself. Let's see: 1200 sheep in 2-1/2 hours with one person working (and a good dog). That is 160 sheep per hour, approximately 80 times faster than I do at home. Just think what I could do with the time saved. For instance, it has taken me a year to find time to write this piece. I might have to take up golf. Oh dear, I hate golf.

The second bed and breakfast farm was south of Christchurch on Banks Peninsula, which is an enormous, round, volcanic formation that sticks out in the Pacific. Actually N.Z. is pretty much all volcanic, but it shows more on Banks Peninsula than in most places. The grass is cropped so short that the bones of the hills show through. At the southern end there is a huge bay shaped like a lobster claw. The land rises precipitously from the water. Akaroa is the largest town on that bay, a charming seaside place. Rod and Kate Shaw live across the bay from Akaroa in a little village called Wainui. (New Zealand place names are mostly Maori and very difficult for this limited brain to remember. Waia sounds like Wainui, right? They all sound the same to me.)

The Shaws run 2000 sheep on 2000 acres. One day Rod took me down the road in his truck to the far end of his farm to gather the sheep. We parked the truck and took off on foot. He provided me with a ski pole to help negotiate my journey down the hills, so steep are they. They looked like mountains to me and, by God, after going up and down two of them on foot, they felt like mountains too! (Too hilly for Bruce's motorcycle here.) Two different types of dogs are used in N.Z. First, the huntaway, a large, very strong, long-legged dog, is sent out to find the sheep under bushes and behind trees. His range is great (1/4 to 1/2 a mile that day) and he barks constantly. which would drive me nuts, but find the sheep he did and caused them to flock together. The huntaway was called in and the header sent out to bring in the sheep. We had already gone up and down one mountain by this time and Rod wanted to check the other side of another mountain with his dogs. Sensing the end of my energy level, he sent me off to look through some bushes and pointed out a meeting place at the top of the second mountain, which was a when Walt purchased her. Dot has literally been winning ever since. She transfered to Walt quickly enough to win the title of NEBCA High Point Champion in 1983, was Reserve Champion in 1985, Reserve Champion in 1986, and 1987, Fourth Place in 1988, and again Champion in 1989. In the High Point Competition, she has been the most consistent winner in the Northeast Border Collie Association.

Dot also has had an impressive record in the Fall Foliage Championship Trial. She was third in 1983, fifth in 1984, Reserve Champion in 1985 and 1986. In addition, she was Reserve Champion of the Ontario Border Collie Club in 1986 and third place dog in the USBCHA Association Finals in 1986.

Among trials won by Dot and Walt are Quechee, Vermont; Markham, Canada; Glens Falls Open in New York; Bradford, Vermont; and Altamont, New York.

Dot's consistency is unquestionable, having placed in the top ten in over 100 trials with Walt. Walt describes Dot "as never at a loss for power, dependable, friendly, an easy traveler, and most of all stable. She is a great dog, I don't know if I will ever have another one like her."

Dot is a rough coated, medium sized black and white female who presents herself as an almost uninterested by-stander at a trial. That is until it is her turn to give the course a try. At that time, she comes to life and as Walt says "she is truly a friend you can depend on." In a world like this, we all could use one of those.

Walt Jagger's Dot, NEBCA High Point Champion for 1989

Walt Jagger's Tweed, NEBCA 1989 Fall Foliage Champion

Tweed, owned by Walt Jagger of Hop Bottom, Pennsylvania, won the 1989 Fall Foliage Championship. Tweed is a rough-coated black and white male with a half white face and big beautiful eyes. Tweed was imported in 1984 by Ralph Pulfer and purchased by Walt in 1986 from Bob Mattix who had him for two years. Since coming with Walt, Tweed has placed in the top ten in forty trials. He qualified for the Fall Foliage Championship Trial for the first time in 1986 and placed third. Last year proved to be the best of this uphill climb as he walked away with the first place trophy as well as Best Gather and Best Shed over 30 + dogs in the 1989 Championship Trial.

Tweed won Hagersville, Ontario in 1987, Pittsburg Township in Kingston, Ontario in 1988, Portland, Connecticut in 1989, and Keystone State in Bedminster, Pennsylvania in 1989.

Tweed is a natural outrunning dog and has a way with his sheep unlike most dogs seen today. He is an easy traveler, very eager to please, and adaptable. Walt went on to describe Tweed as a "real gentlemen". A gentleman and a "gentle-dog" he is at eleven years old. ed's note: At this writing we have been unable to ascertain Walt's age.

These teams of Tweed and his Walt Jagger, Dot and her Walt, will be back next year. Tweed at eleven, Dot at nine, Walt at ??; you should sit up and take notice when they approach the post because they aren't too old yet!!!

gentle walk from where we were. But halfway there I heard a lamb bleating way down in a gully at the bottom again. I went down to check and found the lamb too weak to stand, but otherwise a nice 50 lb. lamb. I flung it over my shoulders and started climbing the mountain. It was too steep to go sideways - I kept slipping back like Sisyphus' stone - so I went straight up, using the cleats on my running shoes for traction and the ski pole when I could spare that hand from holding the lamb. Slowly, slowly, we made it up to the meeting place. I thought to myself, "They don't care as much about lambs here as we do. If Rod says I shouldn't have bothered I'm going to be quite cross." But I needn't have worried. Rod was grateful. He did point out, however, that there was a gate near the gully at the bottom of the mountain where we were going anyway! We had all the ewes and their lambs in the field at last. Another lamb had collapsed too, but they were close enough to the ewes to stay together. The following day, Rod would walk all the sheep back five miles down the road to his farm for worming. (It was a massive infestation of worms that had caused the lambs' collapse.) The ewes are wormed only once a year (they looked pretty taggy to me), but the lambs are wormed every three weeks for the first year. What I envied the most was their 12-month growing season. No hay, no grain, only grass.

We will pick up in a later issue on Anne's adventures in New Zealand. How would you like to be working a flock of 20,000 sheep?

Boot has also shown a strong desire to run to the right on her outrun. If I send her from the left side from any distance away she will cross over to her preferred side. This is not very important at this stage in training when I am still trying to teach her to get past the sheep without disturbing them. But it is important for her to learn to stay on the correct side. So when I send from the left I always work closer to the sheep and run out beside her far enough to prevent her crossing. We also do more left handed outruns than right handed. Since the first outrun is usually the most difficult of each working session (Boot is usually a little wound up and ready to go) we always make that a right handed run so we can start off on a good note.

Once Boot has her sheep gathered and under control she is ready to start working on her stop command. Because Boot has the sheep under control she will pause in her movements. When she pauses I tell her to lay down (lay down or stop standing are both acceptable to me as long as Boot stops moving). Because the sheep are still, she is willing to comply. I try not to ask her to stop when she feels she needs to move to control the stock. We practice her staying as I move around the sheep and let them drift away. This is very difficult for a young dog but it is good for Boot to learn that she doesn't always have to be on balance and that sometimes she must let the sheep go. With the sheep drifted 75 or 100 yards away I will call Boot to me and send her after the sheep. This encourages her to come quickly as she knows she will then get to work the sheep again. I am always careful to position both Boot and myself looking at the sheep before I send her. Later in her training this looking for the sheep will be a very important indication to her as to where the sheep are and what group of sheep I want her to work. This can prevent a dog running to the exhaust pen for example on the outrun. Also waiting to be sent for the sheep teaches her self control.

I try always to speak quietly to Boot. She is a very determined pup with a lot of natural ability. She frequently feels she knows better than I what needs to be done. I want her to learn to listen to me, but I also want her to develop her natural ability and self confidence so that she can gather sheep without any instructions from me. We do much walking around the field while she brings me the sheep as well as many short outruns and gathers where she works on her own with no instructions from me. If in gathering, she gets too close to the sheep and causes the flock to break apart, I will step between Boot and the sheep she is working and urge her to look back. She knows she is supposed to bring all of the sheep so she readily goes back for the ewes left behind. I don't worry about which way she runs as long as she gets behind the sheep and brings them to the main group.

The emphasis in this early training is in allowing Boot to learn about sheep and how to control them. She can't do this if she is constantly listening to me or being told what to do. By allowing her to work on her own and only interfering when she makes an error, I encourage her to think about what she is doing and not what I am doing. It also means that when I do speak to her she is more inclined to listen than if I have been yelling at her the whole time we have been working. Now what is needed is several months of this same type of work while Boot matures and learns about sheep. The outruns will become a little longer and I will become gradually more insistent about her staying on the side she is sent from. I will also gradually become firmer in requiring her to stop on command. But the next few months will see these basic lessons continue until Boot tells me she is ready for more.

Next lesson: Flanks and early driving.

GRAHAM WEBSTER & SUE

by Steve Wetmore

The Northeast Border Collie Association would like to recognize one of its youngest members. Graham Webster from Bradford, VT is a very enthusiastic Border Collie owner who attends most of the trials with his father, Dave Webster. Graham has a nice young pup named Sue (out of Dave's Cap and Alex McKinven's Nell) who's always at his side, following him faithfully.

This is the finest pair of representatives NEBCA could hope for. At every trial they attend, Graham and Sue always take time to approach all of the spectators to see who would like to buy one of the NEBCA calendars. And who can resist a handsome young lad and his cute Border Collie pup? Needless to say, Graham has really helped the Association tremendously with the many calendars sold and the funds he and Sue have raisied for us. We all owe him a huge thank you.

Hopefully Graham and Sue will become more involved at the trials over the next few years as they both get a little older and learn the craft of handling sheep. Given the teacher they have (Dave is an accomplished trainer and handler), it's hoped they will both enjoy success. Keep your eyes open for a good-looking blond lad and his little blackand-white dog at the Nursery Trials this year. Good luck Graham and Sue and thank you.

MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL

The membership year runs from January 1 to December 31 for each year. Renewals are due on January 1, 1990. The only exception is for new members who have joined after July 1, 1989; they need not renew until January 1, 1991. Use the form at the back of the newsletter to renew, and be sure to send dues and renewal to the Secretary:

NEBCA LENDING LIBRARY

NEBCA maintains a library of books and video tapes for the use of our members. We are fortunate to be able to provide a very nice selection. If you need any further information beyond what is covered below, please contact Beverly Lambert.

NEBCA LIBRARY LEND-ING RULES

- 1. Borrower must be a member of NEBCA
- 2. Books will be on loan for 1 month.
- 3. Only one book or video may be borrowed at a time.
- 4. $3.00 fee will be charged to borrow books. What is not used to pay for the mailing of the books will go into the Library's book fund so we can buy more books.

- 5. The return of the borrowed material is the responsibility of the borrower. Any lost or damaged materials will have to be paid for by the borrower. Any material returned late will be assessed a 10 cent a day late fee.
- 6. Send all requests for books to Beverly Lambert RFD 1 Box 2280 Brooks, Maine 04921, (207)525-3223.

Requests will be filled on a first come first serve basis. We are a very small library so you may occasionally have to wait a while for a popular title. I will keep track of who has asked for what and fill requests as soon as the books become available. You may request more than one title at a time and we will send which ever one is available.

FUTURITY CLARIFICATION

by Beverly Lambert

There has been some confusion about entering dogs in the NEBCA Futurity. Any puppy born in the NEBCA region may be entered in the Futurity. A Futurity is an event in which entries are made well in advance of the competition. The NEBCA Futurity requires that entries be made within ten weeks of the birth of the dog. After that a payment is made every six months of the dog's life until the dog is two years old or competes in the Futurity.

Since the NEBCA Futurity just began last year we had to create an artificial beginning which we did with June 1, 1989. All payments before that date were forgiven. The confusion has come over what dogs are eligible for what Futurities.

If your dog was born after October 1, 1987, it is eligible to run in the 1990 Futurity. You will have to make one or two payments into the Futurity depending upon the dog's birth date.

If your dog was born after September 15, 1988, then it is eligible to run in the 1991 Futurity. You will have to make two or three payments into the Futurity depending upon the dog's birth date.

If your dog was born after September 16, 1989 (or there about), it is eligible to run in the 1992 Futurity. You will have to make four payments into the Futurity.

A dog may compete in only one Futurity. It may compete in whatever Futurity its owner elects, but no later then the next Futurity following the dog's 2nd birthday.

1988 International Supreme Championship in Great Britain 1989 International Supreme Championship in Great Britain Tony Collins Training the working Border Collie

If you have a young dog you think might be eligible for the Futurity and would like to know how to enter, or you would like more information, contact: Beverly Lambert, RFD 1 Box 2280, Brooks, Maine 04921 (207)525-3223. This year's Futurity will be run in September or October. The exact date and time will be published in the next Newsletter.

NOTE: Dogs eligible for the Futurity that were born before 9/15/88 must run in this year's Futurity as they will not be eligible next year.

1989 NEBCA NURSERY POINTS

We have listed below all points accumulated for dogs active in 1989 up until October 1989. The totals includes points earned in 1987 and 1988. Watch for your dog to be sure that you are qualified for the class you intend to enter.

CORRECTION

In our last issue we reported that the Ontario Border Collie Club had requested that their TWO-CLASS Nursery Trials be qualified by NEBCA. We did not report on the Trial Committee's decision. The Committee has decided that all Nursery Trials qualified by NEBCA MUST have a full THREE classes; i.e. Novice-Novice, Pro-Novice and Ranch. No Nursery Trial offering less than these three classes will be sanctioned by NEBCA.

NEW GROUP REVIVES OLD TRIAL

THE SCIENCE DIET BLUEGRASS OPEN TRIAL May 26 & 27, 1990

by Casey Fogt

The Heartland Border Collie Association came into existence December 31, 1988 with a gathering of Border Collie fanciers at the home of Bruce and Casey Fogt. The Association has evolved to include members in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Kentucky. The main focus has been to provide a variety of training situations, opportunities for learning and good fellowship. To that end, we've sponsored many fun days, a Seminar and a threetrial Nursery season. The membership is very enthusiastic and ranges from beginners to seasoned trialers.

Our biggest undertaking is the Science Diet Bluegrass Open Sheep Dog Trial, a $4000 plus trial to be held at the Kentucky Horse Park near Lexington, Kentucky on May 26 and 27. We are trying to revive the strong interest and support that had been given the Bluegrass National Sheepdog Trial held in the past at the Walnut Hall Farm. The trial will be held on the beautiful Steeplechase grounds with the actual trial course on the 44 acre infield. Jim Akers of Wiglesworth Farms, Paris Kentucky will be furnishing 250 lambs to provide all handlers with fresh sheep. Alan MacDonald, from Scotland, will be judging.

A purse of over $4000 will be divided among the Top Ten Handlers. The twenty top qualifiers will be competing for these ten prestigious positions. Along with the sizable purse, trophies will be given for special awards. The Steeplechase Barn will house the Saturday evening dinner and dance. The Horse Park is a simply fantastic setting for this event, with camping available on the grounds (no hookups, but bathhouse facilities available) or at the Horse Park Campgrounds very close by (complete with swimming pool and tennis courts). Plan now to support this Memorial Weekend event. For more information, contact: Debbie Kindig, 17512 Fulton Road, Marshallville, Ohio 44645. (216)855-4385.

It is time to renew your membership. Use the membership form below. Be sure to send it to Lynn Deschambeault. DO NOT SEND IT TO YOUR NEBCA NEWS EDITORS. Those who joined after July 1, 1989 need not renew until January 1, 1991.

Remember to send in your training questions and your veterinary concerns. Beverly Lambert is willing to answer any questions you may have on training, and Dave Webster can answer many of your veterinary questions. You can send any questions directly to them or to us, and we will forward them on for inclusion in the newsletter.

As a reminder, we expect to publish on the first of every month except for November, January and April. Call us or write to let us know what you want from your newsletter. It cannot happen without you and it is solely for your information and entertainment. Let us know how you want us to proceed.
