OCTOBER -- THE 1990 TRIAL SEASON IS OVER

HANDLER & DOG OF THE MONTH

HEATHER & NELL

by Gene Sheringer

Now we have another new team competing in the Novice Class. If this keeps up, we could have a whole new set of Novice Handlers competing in the spring. The setting is Fern Hall, Crystal Lake, PA, the Futurity, Open and Novice Handlers alike, and many spectators. This was Heather Murray's very first trial, she is running her mother's dog Nell, and what a success it was.

Heather's mother, Sylvia Murray has been trialing for about four years, and started Nell herself in the Novice Class. Today? A field of ten dogs in Novice/Novice, and Heather placed Nell third in her class -- well ahead of her mother. Let's keep an eye on who gets to run Nell in future events.

Heather was cool and collected at the post, concentrating fully on what Nell was doing out there. Nell paid attention to her every command, and Heather kept her head, even when things began to speed up a little. Nell is 6 years old and seemed to trust Heather as they completed the course. They were unable to complete the pen, coming close several times. But then, there were many open handlers who had the same trouble that day. Heather has been watching what has been going on out there on the trial field, and today she got to put it all into practice. Heather Murray was a delight to behold. The crowd went wild as she completed the course.

The best part of all of this is that Heather is only 9 years old, and she saved the money herself for her entry fee. Heather read with great interest about Debbie Merrill in our August issue, and pleaded with her mother to let her compete. Little did her mother know that, when she told Heather she could compete IF she paid for it herself, that she WOULD do it.

When I talked to Heather (after she came off her cloud), she told me that she had already begun to save her money for the next trial. Since there will be no more Nursery Trials this year, she has the whole winter to prepare for next spring and the beginning of the 1991

EDITORS' NOTES

With this issue, we bring to a close the 1990 Trial Season. For these editors, it has had its rough spots, but it has also had some wonderful events. We should all give a great big hand to the Trials Committee. They have tried hard to make this a fair season, one where all competitors have an equal chance at winning. With this season under our belts, it is now time to sit back and take stock of the results. Some changes will have to be made.

In this issue, we are reporting the results of all trials up Season. Watch out for Heather, whichever dog her mother lets her run. She is a determined girl, and will surely be a very serious competitor.

Editors' Note

This is the second article in this series. The first, suggested by and written by Lynn Deschambeault was the inspiration behind Heather even thinking about being able to compete. We think that Lynn's original idea is great. We believe that we should continue. If any of you would like to contribute your thoughts on a handler or dog of the month, please let us know.

to and including the Fall Foliage Championship. We have not received write-ups for some of the trials included here, so we include only the salient facts. For the Fall Foliage Championship, Gene has agreed to write it up, so you will see it included in this issue.

Then, in the Winter Issue, look for articles on the top Northeast dogs; more on Beverly's progress with Boot; and a special interest article or two. In this issue, we have published the minutes of the club meeting that was held during the Fall foliage Championship. It was then that we had a bit of discussion on what needed to be changed in the rules for the 1991 Trial Season.

Rather than these editors voicing an opinion (huge sigh of relief from most of our readers), perhaps we should just bring the issues to the rest of the membership. THE TRIALS COMMITTEE WOULD LIKE YOUR OPINION, SO PLEASE CONTACT THEM (directly or through these editors).

The first issue is: What should the trials program and rules look like in order to determine the top dog in the Northeast? This year there were 36 trials, and the contention from some competitors was that top-points dogs got their points by going to most of them. It could have been possible for a dog placing low in the top ten in many trials to beat out a dog placing high in a few. Which is the better dog (some competitors ask)?

MEETING MINUTES

Fall Foliage Championship Trial
Altamont, New York
October 6, 1990

by Dee Woessner

Steve Wetmore, NEBCA President, called the meeting to order. The major discussion dealt with trials, especially the 1991 Championship. The Trials Committee will meet before the annual meeting to discuss how dogs qualify to run in the Championship. Members of the Trials Committee can be contacted with ideas. (Members are Becky Peterson, Mike Canaday, Roger Deschambeault, Dayle Hamilton, Walt Jagger, and Betty Levin.) Becky said that she preferred to hear what direction the club membership wished to see for the

The Trials Committee is looking for alternatives. They are considering: (1) Qualifying only 2 trials from each state -- in 1990 there were 10-Pennsylvania, 10-Ontario, 6-Maine, 2-Connecticut, 2-New York, 2-New Jersey, 2-Vermont, 1-Massachusetts, and 1-New Hampshire; (2) Allowing only ten trials to count towards high points; (3) Developing a point system that depends on a per-trial average as the measure. We are convinced that they will come up with an equitable solution, but they should do it with your input.

The second issue is: What rules should be applied toward determining a qualifying trial? Should NEBCA become a rules-enforcer, disqualifying trials that do not come up to their standards?

The third: Should points be assigned equally to dogs that place in the top ten, irrespective of the number of dogs that compete? Should a dog that places first in a field of four dogs get the same number of points as a dog that places first in a field of 60 dogs?

Championship Trial - high quality or wider participation. Bev Lambert said the real goal is how best to find the top dog in the Northeast.

The 1991 Championship Trial was discussed. This year the club got about $1000 for ads in the program and could get more with earlier planning.

Mike Canaday suggested holding the trial in a place like the racecourse at Saratoga, where dog shows are held. He said the club could work with someone who knows how to promote the trial and possibly hold it in conjunction with a dog show.

Bev Lambert made a motion that a committee of three

And fourth: Who and how many competitors should be invited to run in the Fall Foliage Championship? This year, we saw a cutoff at 18 dogs, determined on the basis of their high points standing at the end of the regular season. But that meant that only ten handlers were allowed to compete this year, leaving 3 or 4 times that many who were forced to stay home. At least some of them came out to help with the trial.

And finally: What is the purpose of the Fall Foliage Championship? Is it to continue with our theme to promote the Border Collie, or is it a special, private trial that should be dedicated to the members of NEBCA? Should we hold it at a private farm and fund it out of the NEBCA treasury, or should we make it a public event funded by and sponsored by some big-time commercial product-oriented company?

These are questions and issues that should be answered by you the members, not by a small group of individuals who may have their own agendas. Please get out your pen members organize the Fall Foliage Trial to get maximum sponsorship and spectators.

Some discussion followed. Dave Webster was opposed and said that the club could afford to have their own trial without outside influence. Mike said that the club needed to decide if the trial was to promote the Border Collie. Small farm trials are great for the membership, but the larger trials are good for the Border Collie.

The motion passed. The three volunteers for the committee, Bev Lambert, Mike Canaday and Gene Sheninger have the job of finding a site and sponsors for the 1991 Championship.

1990 FALL FOLIAGE CHAMPIONSHIP

Altamont, New York
October 6-7, 1990

by Gene Sheninger

What a wonderful weekend for a trial. The weather was delightfully seasonal, the competition was keen, and the sheep were absolutely consistent. The Fall Foliage Championship, the last trial of the 1990 Trial Season was off. It is and has always been designed to pit the best dogs in the Northeast against one another. It is the "World Series" of NEBCA Trialers.

Each dog ran three times, and the best two of the three scores were combined to determine the leaders. We ran our first two times on Saturday. During the first run, the competition was tough and the scores very tight. The top five dogs were only 1 1/2 points apart. The leader was Cheryl with Nell with a 94 1/2 (1/2 point ahead of Beverly with Jet). Then came the second run. Both Cheryl and Beverly laid down spectacular 97's (out of a possible 100).

At the end of the first day, Cheryl with Nell and Beverly with Jet were still only 1/2 point apart. But they had out-distanced the third place dog (Walt with Queen) by a full five points. That was pretty much the end of the excitement.

Cheryl with Kim added 2 1/2 points to her previous day's totals, Beverly with Lark 7 points, Roger with Sue 9 1/2, and Mike with Sandy 5 1/2. But, the runs of Saturday for Cheryl with Nell and Beverly with Jet were to stand as the Champion and Reserve Champion for the two days.

The top ten received beautiful Director's chairs embroidered with a Border Collie and description. Look for the chairs at the next competition. This competitor only got to sit in one briefly.

The Champions

*Cheryl Jagger Williams - Champ.
Beverly Lambert - Res. Ch.*

Here are the final placings for the top dogs in the Northeast:

THE JUDGE

The judge for the Fall Foliage Championship trial was Mr. John Harvey from Staffordshire, England. He has been raising, training and trialing Border Collies for about 12 years. Since his retirement from the retail milk business about four years ago, he has been able to dedicate more time, and he has become a seasoned trialer in the UK -- primarily England and Wales, but also in Scotland on occasion. He has judged several trials in England, but this is his first trip to North America.

Mr. Harvey spent 14 years in the retail milk business, and 10 years before that he owned and operated his own dairy farm. It was only after he moved away from his farm that he discovered the pleasures of working sheep with Border Collies. He became awed with this wonderful breed and their ability to handle thousands of sheep about the moors of central England, and like most of us has been bitten by the bug.

Mr. Harvey works 6 Border Collies. He has 2 in the Open Class, 2 that are about to start the Nursery Season in October, 1 that he is readying for next year's Nursery Season, and then there is old Sue. Sue is 15 years old and has been retired for three years. His biggest problem is his attachment to his dogs, so Sue will stay with him till she dies.

Mr. Harvey is an active judge. He moves about as needed so that he can best judge the lines of the sheep to the obstacles. He has demonstrated a consistent approach to judging and a sense of fairness to all competitors. What a pleasure it is to run under a judge who is so even in evaluating a competitor's performance.

BLUE HILL FAIR

Blue Hill, Maine
September 1-2, 1990
Judge: Douglas McDonough Trial Manager: Jim Davidson

The Sheep Dog Trial at the Blue Hill Fair is one of the oldest trials in the United States. The course was layed out by Lewis Pence many years ago to accommodate a small space and still present a challenge to the dogs and handlers. This year the sheep were cooperative and, as always, the audience was large and appreciative. Nineteen dogs went to the post for the preliminaries on Saturday. The top 11 dogs ran on Sunday. There were several ties which were broken on the outwork.

Minutes continued

One idea suggested by Steve to get a wider variety of judges for trials throughout the year was to give judges an automatic ten points for judging one trial. An alternative suggestion was to give the judge his or her average number of points for the season and let that determine their placing for the trial.

The Nursery Trials Committee will meet to prepare a report for the Annual Meeting. Eve Marschark, Committee Member, suggested that members contact her or other committee members (Lynnette Milleville or Rick or Alison Trojanoski) with ideas on the nursery trials. (New committee members in 1991 will be Carol Campion and Denise Leonard replacing the Trojanoskis.)

WINDSOR FAIR

Windsor, Maine
September 3, 1990
Judge: Douglas McDonough Trial Manager: Fred Eames

This was the second year for this fair trial. The small field was layed out in a New York style course (figure 8 through two sets of gates and a center set of posts). The sheep were quite consistent throughout the day and provided a good demonstration of the abilities of the dogs in tight quarters. Twenty-six dogs went to the post with the top 11 dogs running a second time. Scores were added to find the top ten finishers.

		Cumulative Score

FRYEBURG FAIR SHEEPDOG TRIAL

Fryeburg, Maine
September 30, 1990
Judged by John Harvey, Staffordshire, England

Submitted by Gabriel Merrill

The trial started off with a heavy mist, then cleared a bit, but stayed overcast all day. Good day for the dogs to run. Twenty-nine dogs to the post, had many good runs, keeping the scores quite high. Overall we had a good trial, thanks to all the people that helped. The top ten dogs were re-run and the combined scores were:

1.	Roger Deschambeault Tyson	202.5
2.	Roger Deschambeault Sue	198
3.	Walt Jagger Dot	190.5
4.	Beverly Lambert Jet	188
5.	Beverly Lambert Lark	188
6.	Betty Levin Kelty	182
7.	Gene Sheninger Nap	182
8.	Lynn Deschambeault Dandy	177.5
9.	Steve Wetmore Ben	177.5
10.	Lynn Deschambeault Daisy	100

He urged members to help sell the remaining stock.

Steve announced that the club's Secretary/Treasurer position has been split. Lynn Deschambeault will remain as Secretary, with Dee Woessner serving as Treasurer.

Steve said that of 1100 calendars about 600 remain. The calendars are $4 each in quantities of 20 or more, $6 each plus $1 postage if ordered individually from Steve.

NEBCA brochures are still at the printers, due to typographical errors and an unusually high bill. The club is going to try to get the bill of $836 for 2000 brochures reduced.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting, time and place to be announced.

ROCKAWAY TOWNSHIP STOCK DOG TRIALS

Rockaway, NJ
September 1-3, 1990

I heard it said that this is one of the more naturally situated trials on the circuit. It is held on a set of fields that are completely surrounded by trees and far away from any roads, cars or houses. This weekend was ideal. Perfect weather combined with reasonably consistent sheep and a group of friendly competitors made this a fun weekend. Everyone seemed to enjoy the days' competition, dip in the swimming pool in the evening, and friendly dinners around the pool at night. AND, The Results:

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP SHEEPDOG TRIAL

East Conway, NH
September 29, 1990
Judged by John Harvey, Staffordshire, England

Submitted by Kathy Pobatschnig

We couldn't have had better weather as sunny skies prevailed throughout the day. John Harvey, judging his first trial in the States, was very impressed by the quality of the runs as he judged this trial. The trial was well attended with many interested spectators who also enjoyed hayrides, which departed throughout the day. There were 23 dogs to the post. The top ten dogs re-ran and combined scores on the two runs for the final results.

THE 1990 FUTURITY

by Beverly Lambert

The 1990 Futurity was held at Fern Hall in conjunction with the Fern Hall Sheep Dog Trial on Saturday and Sunday September 15-16. We had 6 dogs entered in this year's Futurity. The course consisted of a 200 + yard outrun and a good long drive, a pen and a shed. The first run on Saturday morning was very difficult as the sheep proved to be pretty well unworkable for most of the dogs. The sheep had had very little experience with being worked in small groups and behaved like unbroke sheep the world over, any way they wanted. Some of the sheep fought, some ran and some laid down. Sunday each dog ran two more times. By this time the sheep were much more manageable but still quite uneven. Roger Deschambeault had a lovely run but his sheep stalled in the pen opening and wouldn't go inside for dog or handler. When they were finally penned time ran out before his shed. Pat Buckley looked like he had the trial in the bag on his last run but couldn't find a space for Bart to shed and finished in second place.

Here are the final placings for the 1990 NEBCA Futurity:

1. Amanda Milliken	Hazel	169
2. Pat Buckley	Bart	165
3. Walt Jagger	Kit	163.5
4. Roger Deschambeault	Tyson	155
5. Dayle Hamilton	Beth	139
6. Eve Marschark	Coach	76
